Informed Consent

Dear New Client:

I am excited about the opportunity to meet with you for therapy. Let me start by telling you a little about myself. I have a Master of Social Work from the George Warren Brown School of Social Work at Washington University in St. Louis. I am licensed as an LCSW or Licensed Clinical Social Worker in the State of Texas. Over the past several years, I have worked in a variety of mental health settings. My goal is to help you overcome life's difficulties through new coping skills and problem solving methods. Below is some general information to help you understand the therapeutic process.

Therapy:

Therapy is the Greek word for change. Seeking professional help is not easy. Honesty is the key to successful therapy. Please know that this is a safe place. The therapist's role is to help you problem solve and not to judge.

Therapy is a process and often a difficult process. Part of the task of being a client is to explore uncomfortable feelings and be honest about behaviors and choices. The therapist with her knowledge of human development and behavior will make observations and suggestions for new ways to approach life's difficulties. It is important for you to explore your feelings and thoughts. It is important for you to try new approaches in order for change to occur. Practice is a vehicle for change.

There are some risks associated with therapy. The main risk is that you may discover things about yourself, child, or significant other that you do not like. Visiting with me in the office will not solve your problems. Treatment requires honesty and work. Growth often occurs when we confront things that induce uncomfortable feelings such as sorrow, grief, or anger. I am not here to judge you but to help you problem solve. As we problem solve, it is your responsibility to follow through with solutions or recommendations made during therapy. The success of your work with your therapist depends on the quality of the effort put forth in the process.

It is not uncommon for things to get worse before they get better. As human beings we are creatures of habit. We often resist change. Changes come with intentional choices and consistency with these choices.

Often, with children especially, poor behaviors will initially escalate as they resist change. Children also want to know if you are going to stay with the changes. After all, if you as the parent do not stay with the changes, then why should the child put forth effort into changing? The main goal for the parent is to stay very consistent.

If at anytime you find that therapy is not working, please call me. You have the right to terminate therapy at any time. However, if you choose to end your session, a termination session is beneficial. Often, people want to quit when things are difficult. Stopping therapy because things are difficult can often make things worse in the long run. Again, please call me if you have questions or concerns.

Therapeutic Relationship:

Our relationship is strictly professional. This means that we will not have a relationship outside of the therapist client relationship. Therapy is about you. Please do not invite me to birthday parties, weddings or other social events. If you see me in a social setting, please know that I will not approach you. If you choose to say hello I will be happy to say hello back. However, I will not discuss treatment issues with you in this type of meeting. This protects you and your privacy as well as provides a safe place for you to talk and problem solve.

Office Hours and Appointments:

I understand that your time is valuable. Office hours are 10:30am to 6:00pm Monday through Thursday. Appointment times are scheduled for you and last 45-50 minutes. If you are late, we may not be able to spend the whole 45-50 minutes. Being on time allows you to get the most out of your session. I will make every effort to be on time and ready for you when your sessions begin. I ask that you extend to me the same courtesy. If you are significantly late, I may ask you to reschedule your appointment.

Appointment Cancellations:

If you need to cancel or reschedule an appointment, please call me in advance. Failure to notify me 24 business hours prior to the scheduled appointment time will result in a full session cancellation fee. Please record your appointment times as you may not receive a reminder call. Please note that missing 3 sessions without sufficient notice may result in the termination of therapy.

Emergencies/Crisis:

I may not be available after hours or on week-ends for crisis work. During this time, in the event of an emergency, you may call 911, CONTACT crisis hotline 972-233-teen, Crisis Intervention 817-927-5544 or Texas Youth Hotline 800-210-2278. If your child is a danger to self or others, please call 911 or take them to the emergency room or nearest psychiatric hospital. You may be charged for crisis intervention work.

Payment:

Payment is expected at the time of services. Any accounts past due 30 days will be forwarded to a collection agency. Please call me if you need to make payment arrangements. If your check is returned due to insufficient funds, you will be charged a $30 fee in addition to the amount that is due.

Ongoing Communications:

All correspondence will be mailed in an envelope marked "Anne Chester, LCSW, PA." Please immediately advise me of changes to your address or telephone number. By signing this form you are consenting for the therapist to communicate with you by the address, phone number, email address, or fax number that you provide to her. Please note that there are confidentiality risks if you send an email requesting a response or request the therapist contact someone on your behalf. Emails are not encrypted. Phone calls are made via cell phone.

This therapist requests that you do not send text messages. The text message fee will be $25 per text.

Complaints or Concerns:

Please address any complaints or concerns directly with me as soon as they arise. Your concerns are an important part of your therapy. If you feel that you are unable to resolve issues, with me, please feel free to discuss these concerns with my clinical supervisor. You may also contact the Texas State Board of Social Work Examiners at 800-232-3162 or write to TSBWE; PO Box 141369; Austin, TX 78714-6718.

By signing this form, I assert that I understand these policies and agree to abide by them. I voluntarily agree to receive mental health services. I voluntarily agree for my child to receive mental health services. I authorize Anne Chester, LCSW to provide such care, treatment, or services to me as are considered necessary and advisable. I understand that I will participate in the planning of my treatment and that I may stop such care, treatment or services at any time. I acknowledge that I have read this packet in its entirety and understand all the terms and information contained herein. Ample opportunity has been offered to me to ask questions and seek clarification of anything unclear to me.

I provide consent for Anne Chester, LCSW to evaluate me and commence treatment. I provide consent for Anne Chester, LCSW to provide all clinical information to my insurance company as requested by them for payment/reimbursement of services.

Notice of Privacy Practices

This notice describes how PHI about you may be used and disclosed and how you can get access to this information. Please review it carefully

My Promise to You

I am required by law and regulation to protect the privacy of your personal health information, and to abide by the terms of the notice of privacy practices in effect.

Complaints

If you are concerned that your privacy rights have been violated, you may contact the person listed below. You may also send a written complaint to the United States Department of Health and Human Services. I will not retaliate against you for filing a complaint with the government or me.

The contact information for the United States Department of Health and Human Services is:
U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
HIPAA Complaint
7500 Security Blvd., C5-24-04
Baltimore, MD 21244

Questions and Contact Person for Requests

If you have any questions or want to make a request pursuant to the rights described, please feel free to contact me at the address/phone number listed at the end of this notice.

Policies and this notice may change any time. Those revised policies will apply to all the protected health information I maintain. If or when this notice is changed the new notice will be posted or provided to you.

My Responsibilities

I am required by applicable federal and state law to maintain the privacy of your protected health information. Protected health information (PHI) is information about you including demographic information that may identify you and that relates to your past, present, or future physical or mental health or condition and related health care services. I am required to give you this notice about my privacy practices, legal duties, and your rights concerning your PHI. I must follow the privacy practices that are described in this notice while it is in effect. This notice takes effect April 14, 2003 and will remain in effect until it is replaced.

I reserve the right to change my privacy practice and the terms of this notice at any time, provided such changes are permitted by applicable law. I reserve the right to make the changes in my privacy practices and the new terms of my notice effective for all PHI that I maintain, including PHI I created or received before I made the changes. Before significant changes in my privacy practices are made I will make the new notice available upon request.

For more information about privacy practices or for additional copies of this notice please contact me using the information listed at the end of this notice.

Uses and Disclosures of Protected Health Information

I use and disclose PHI about you for treatment, to obtain payment for treatment and health care operations. Following are examples of the types of uses and disclosures that I am permitted to make.

Treatment

I am permitted to use and disclose your PHI to those involved in your treatment. For example, if you are referred to a specialist, some of your PHI will be shared to facilitate the delivery of care. I may also request that your primary care physician or psychiatrist share information with me about your particular condition.

Payment

I am permitted to use and disclose your PHI to bill and collect payment for the services provided to you. For example, I may complete a claim form to obtain payment from your insurer or HMO. The form will contain PHI, such as a description of the medical service provided to you that your insurer or HMO needs to approve payment to me.

Health Care Operations

I am permitted to use or disclose your PHI for the purposes of health care operations, which are activities that support this practice and ensure that quality care is delivered. For example, I may engage the services of a professional to aid this practice in its compliance programs. This person will review billing and medical files to ensure I maintain my compliance with regulations and the law. I also may ask another professional such as a LPC, MD, LCSW to review this practice's charts and medical records to evaluate performance so that I may ensure that the best quality of care is provided to you.

Disclosures That Can Be Made Without Your Authorization

There are situations in which I am permitted by law to disclose or use your PHI without your written authorization or an opportunity to object. In other situations, I will ask for your written authorization before using or disclosing any identifiable health information about you. If you choose to sign an authorization to disclose information, you can later revoke that authorization in writing to stop future uses and disclosures. However any revocation will not apply to disclosures or uses already made or taken in reliance on that authorization.

Public Health, Abuse, Neglect, and Health Oversight

I may disclose your PHI for public health activities. Public health activities are mandated by federal, state, or local government for the collection of information about disease, vital statistics (like births and deaths), or injury by a public health authority. I may disclose PHI, if authorized by law to a person who may have been exposed to a disease or may be at risk for contracting or spreading a disease or condition.

I may also disclose PHI to a public agency authorized to receive reports of child abuse or neglect. Texas law requires mental health professionals to report child abuse or neglect. Regulations also permit the disclosure of information to report abuse or neglect of elders or disabled.

I may disclose your PHI to a health oversight agency for those activities authorized by law. Examples of these activities are audits, investigations, licensure applications and inspections which are all government activities undertaken to monitor the health care delivery system and compliance with other laws, such as civil rights laws.

Legal Proceedings and Law Enforcement

I may disclose your PHI in the course of judicial or administrative proceedings in response to an order of the court or the administrative decision maker or other appropriate legal process. Certain requirements must be met before the information is disclosed. If asked by a law enforcement official, I may disclose your PHI under limited circumstances provided that the information: is released pursuant to legal process, such as a warrant or a subpoena; pertains to a victim of crime and your are incapacitated; pertains to a person who has died under circumstances that may be related to criminal conduct; is about a victim or a crime and I am unable to obtain the person's agreement; is released because of a crime that has occurred on these or other business premises; or is released to locate a fugitive, missing person or suspect. I may also release the information if I believe the disclosure is necessary to prevent or lessen an imminent threat to the health or safety of a person.

Workers' Compensation

I may disclose your PHI as required by the Texas Workers' Compensation Law.

Inmates

If you are an inmate or under the custody of law enforcement, I may release your PHI to the correctional institution or law enforcement official. This release is permitted to allow the institution to provide you with medical care to protect your health or the health and safety of others or the safety and security of the institution.

Military, National Security and Intelligence Activities Protection of the President

I may disclose your PHI for specialized governmental functions such as separation or discharge from military services, requests as necessary by appropriate military command officers (if you are in the military), authorized national security and intelligence activities, as well as authorized activities for the provision of protective services for the President of the United States, other authorized government officials, or foreign heads of state.

Research, Organ Donation, Coroners, Medical Examiners, and Funeral Directors

When a research project and its privacy protections have been approved by an institutional review board or privacy board, I may release PHI to researchers for research purposes. I may release PHI to organ procurement organizations for the purpose of facilitating organ, eye, or tissue donation if you are a donor. Also I may release your PHI to a coroner or medical examiner to identify a deceased or a cause of death. Further I may release your PHI to a funeral director where such a disclosure is necessary for the director to carry out his disclosure.

Required by Law

I may release your PHI where the disclosure is required by law.

Your Rights Under Federal Privacy Regulations

The United States Department of Health and Human Services created regulations intended to protect patient privacy as required by the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA). Those regulations create several privileges that patients may exercise. I will not retaliate against a patient that exercises their HIPAA rights.

Requested Restriction

You may request that I restrict or limit how your protected health information is used or disclosed for treatment, payment, or healthcare operations. I do NOT have to agree to this restriction, but if I do agree, I will comply with your request except under emergency circumstances.

To request a restriction, submit the following in writing:

1. the information to be restricted
2. what kind of restriction you are requesting (i.e. in the use of information, disclosure of information or both)
3. to whom the limits apply.

Please send the request to the address listed at the end of this notice.

You may also request that I limit disclosure to family members, other relatives, or close personal friends that may or may not be involved in your care.

Receiving Confidential Communications by Alternative

Means you may request that I send communications of protected health information by alternative means or to an alternative location. This request must be made in writing to me at the address listed below. I am required to accommodate only reasonable requests. Please specify in your correspondence exactly how you want me to communicate with you and if you are directing me to send it to a particular place, the contact/address information.

Inspections and Copies of Protected Health Information

You may inspect and or copy health information that is within the designated record set, which is information that is used to make decisions about your care. Texas law requires that request for copies are made in writing and I ask that requests for inspection of your health information also be made in writing. Please send your request to me at the address listed at the end of this notice.

I can refuse to provide some of the information you ask to inspect or ask to be copied if the information:

1. includes psychotherapy notes
2. Includes the identity of a person who provided information if it was obtained under a promise of confidentiality
3. Is subject to the Clinical Laboratory Improvements Amendments of 1988
4. Has been compiled in anticipation of litigation.

I can refuse to provide access to or copies of some information for other reasons, provided that I provide a review of my decision on your request. Another licensed health care provider who was not involved in the prior decision to deny access will make any such review.

Texas law requires that I provide copies or a narrative within 15 days of your request. I will inform you of when the records are ready or if I believe access should be limited. If I deny access, I will inform you in writing.

HIPAA permits me to charge a reasonable cost based fee. Fees will be assessed and charged on the bases of limits set by HIPAA and or Texas State Board of Social Work Examiners.

Amendment of PHI

You may request an amendment of your PHI in the designated record set. Any such request must be made in writing to the person listed at the end of this notice. I will respond within 60 days of your request. I may refuse to allow an amendment if the information:

1. Was not created by myself or other professionals that may be part of this practice
2. is not part of the designated record set
3. is not available for inspection because of an appropriate denial
4. if the information is accurate and complete.

Even if I refuse to allow an amendment you are permitted to include a client statement about the information at issue in your medical record. If I refuse to allow an amendment I will inform you in writing. If I approve the amendment, I will inform you in writing, allow the amendment to be made and tell others that I now have the correct information.

Accounting of Certain Disclosures

The HIPPA privacy regulations permit you to request and for me to provide an accounting of disclosures that are other than for treatment, payment, health care operations, or made via an authorization signed by you or your representative. Please submit any request for an accounting to the person listed below. Your first accounting of disclosures within a 12 month period will be free. For additional requests within that period, I am permitted to charge for the cost of providing the list. If there is a charge I will notify you and you may choose to with draw or modify your request before any costs are incurred.

Appointment Reminders, Treatment Alternatives and Other Health-Related Benefits

I may contact you by telephone, mail or both to provide you with appointment reminders, information about treatment alternatives, or other health-related benefits and services that maybe of interest to you.

NOTICE TO ALL CLIENTS

This notice is to inform you about the office sharing arrangement whereby the counselors in this office provide quality care to their clients. Anne Chester, Greg Wells, D'Anna Sims, and Kelley Cheatham each have their own independent counseling practice. In order for the counselors to keep their expenses low while providing quality care, the counselors share common office space and equipment. Although the counselors share common office space and equipment, the counselors do not have a partnership arrangement. A counselor in this office may provide "on call" coverage to assist another counselor in this office in an emergency situation or on a short term basis. As such, there is a possibility that you may be required to contact another counselor in this office instead of your designated counselor. However, this in no way indicates that the counselors in this office have a partnership arrangement or share joint responsibility for any client. Please contact your counselor if you have any questions about this office sharing relationship.
